

Would Consider Professionally Inexperienced Candidates

Brewmaster needed for "Gypsy" brewery start up in NY

If you are sincerely passionate about producing GREAT beer, and are looking for a genuine opportunity to fulfill that calling, please read further.

This start up is seeking a seasoned brewer to head up the brewing operations of an aggressive, forward thinking brewing company; a brewing company who's supreme goal is to produce great beer. This person will be directly involved in the direction of the company and in charge of recipe creation and all brewing tasks.

The best candidates are energetic, knowledgeable, and work well in collective environments. The best candidates have an insatiable appetite for brewing and industry knowledge as it contributes to the goal of always producing better and more relevant beer. The right candidate is excited by the challenge of mastering the nuances of old world styles while also wanting to participate in the industry's current exploration of the brewer's art. The brewer must share the owners perspective that there are no boundaries and nothing is off limits, be it sour, barrel aged, spontaneous fermentation, hop-forward, Belgian leaning, blending, experimental, and whatever is next, to name just a few.

This candidate must also meet the following requirements:

- Minimum three years of brewing experience
- A high degree of professionalism and an unwavering commitment to excellence through attention to detail and focus on quality and consistency
- Ability to work well in a team first environment and able to accept constructive criticism
- Work schedule flexibility is very important
- An affinity for recipe creation across various beer styles
- A degree in formal brewing education such as Seibel or UC Davis is highly desirable but not mandatory
- Mechanical proficiency and knowledge of brewing equipment (and its maintenance) a huge plus
- Must understand the importance of a clean working environment and be able to implement and manage a cleaning protocol that will contribute to the highest quality product
- Socially comfortable and willing to participate/lead grass-roots marketing events such as tasting events, interviews, etc.
- Motivated and Passionate

If you meet the above qualifications please submit your resume to:
RJBrewing@gmail.com